We have been using a Frigidaire 50-pint Dehumidifier Model #FFAD5033W1 since October. We ran it continuous for 10 days and were surprised on how much water it collected (50 pints). Over the next 10 days it collected another 50 pints. As of November 1st we set the humidity level to 45% on automatic to run on and off and it did that all month.

What Humidity Should I Set My Dehumidifier To?

Do not operate the dehumidifier below the recommended temperatures of 65 °F degrees. That said, there are exception models e.g. from Frigidaire, Soleus that can run even in colder temperatures. Ideal for basement use without having to worry the dehumidifier will ice up. Make sure there is no blockage on the dehumidifier air ventilation.
