At base, Guissani is saying that all human beings have a religious sense -- he would argue that this is innate and God-given -- and that one can either recognize and cultivate this sense or one can deny or suppress this sense. If the former, then one draws closer to understanding the Mystery at the root of all things (i.e., God).

The religious sense—Fr. Giussani always taught us—is the nature of our "I" inasmuch as it expresses itself in these questions; "it coincides with the radical engagement of the self with life, an involvement which exemplifies itself in these questions."² But why should we read The Religious Sense again now, making it
